What is the topic to be discussed?

The future of NDIS home and living options in Australia

What are the key questions/agenda you would like to raise for discussion? (50 words)

- Key home and living takeaways from NDIS review recommendations
- Best practice for providing these services
- The historical, current and future role and impact of SDA in the accessible housing market in Australia
- Innovation: exploring new housing and home and living support options for participants

Who will lead and contribute to the discussion? Please include the names of the panel members here, and add them as co-authors below (select Yes for Presenter).

Alecia Rathbone - Housing Hub CEO

Alecia has experience speaking on panels about accessible housing, SDA, home and living options and how this information can be effectively provided to people with disability.

Person with lived experience with disability and with accessible housing

We employ people with disability who can speak about their experience with accessible housing and home and living services.

Housing provider

We work with many Housing Providers that offer accessible housing, bringing a unique 'supplier' perspective to this panel discussion.

Home and living specialist

We offer home and living services and employ specialists who can share their perspectives.

How do you plan to engage the audience? (e.g. ask for audience input in response to the topic questions and/or invite them to question panellists)

This panel discussion promises to be both captivating and transformative.

Accessible housing and SDA can be complex topics and accessing these options will look different for everyone. We will encourage the audience to ask questions to engage with our panellists, collectively building their understanding and capacity.

The audience will be provided information on accessing additional resources as well as opportunities for further professional learning after this panel discussion.

The Housing Hub has experience in presenting and facilitating information sessions, webinars, keynote speaker sessions and panel discussions, so we look forward to the opportunity to share our expertise.

Why is this important and how does it contribute to the theme of ‘New Frontiers’? How might this panel discussion showcase or debate new ideas and how we might make the world a better place for people with disability?

It is important to recognise the challenges of home and living services and discuss how to improve them.

We would discuss these challenges and the role innovation plays in shaping the accessible housing market of the future.
